HAS PRES. DIAZ DECIDED TO ACCEPT THE NEW PEACE OVERTURES MADE BY MADERO AND HIS CABINET?

THIS IS RUMORED IN EL PASO
THIS AFTERNOON AND EX-PLAINING THE POSSIBLE IN-ACTIVITY OF THE INCURGENTS.

ANOTHER CONFERENCE

It is said that Diaz Peace Commissioners have been notified to confer again with the representatives of the insurgent forces.

El Paso, May 15.—The end of the revolution in Mexico seems near. Federal Peace Commissioner Carbajal this morning received telegraphic instructions from Mexico City to proceed with the peace negotiations along lines proposed by Horizontally yesterday and laid upon Madero's demands in a telegram to Carbajal.

It is believed it was signed by Diaz himself and it is rumored that it contains the formal acceptance by the president of the propositions suggested.

Peace Possible.

Mexico City, May 15.—Indications of peace so strong that foreign Minister De La Barrera today declared "we are making great progress toward peace," May Mean Peace.

THE UNITED PRESS.

El Paso, May 15.—Francisco Madero has temporarily delayed his plans to lead his forces southward to meet the federal forces of fifteen hundred troops under Col. Robles in order to treat with representatives of President Diaz for peace. This work was officially brought to El Paso today.

The Federal forces were reported sixty miles south of Juarez, General Orozco expressed his entire repudiation for his show of anger on Saturday and regretted the trouble.

England Welcomes the Kaiser. London, May 15.—The fortification guns at Port Victoria gave the German Emperor a noisy welcome this morning as the imperial yacht Hohenzollern entered the harbor, the British naval flag at the fore, the imperial standard at the main and the German ensign at the mizzen mast. The Duke of Connaught, with a number of military and naval officers and court functionaries, boarded the Hohenzollern and welcomed the Emperor and Empress Victoria Louise. At noon the imperial and royal party reached Victoria Station, where a military escort was in waiting to conduct them to Buckingham Palace, where the Emperor and Empress and their daughter are to remain a week as the guests of the King and Queen. Tomorrow the German Emperor will be a prominent figure in the ceremonies at the unveiling of the Victoria Memorial.

SET ASIDE VERDICT OF LOWER COURT AS TO THE CHARGE

Comptroller, Mitchell and Frank Morrison of the American Federation of Labor Held Not Guilty.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, May 15.—Setting aside the sentence of imprisonment imposed by the supreme court of the district of Columbia, for alleged obstruction to the boycott injunction, the Supreme Court of the United States today held Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, president, vice president and secretary respectively of the American Federation of Labor, had been erroneously sentenced to jail on the charge of contempt of the local court order.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The decision was read by Justice Lamar to the effect that the case was one purely of civil contempt and only punishable by fines, and that since it was established that the Buck Stove and Range company had patched up its difference with the American Federation of Labor that the case should be dismissed outright.

Great Victory.

The decision was one of the greatest victories ever won by union labor in this country. Because it involved the imprisonment of three of the foremost leaders, it was looked upon by union men as marking the turning point of the fight on unionism in America.

Views the Case.

Chicago, May 15.—"This decision re-establishes the constitutional right of free speech which was endangered by the courts of inferior jurisdiction," said President John Fitzgerald, of the Chicago Federation of Labor, when told of the supreme court decision in the Gompers case today.

Another Decision.

The supreme court this afternoon held Christopher Wilson, president of the United Wireless Telegraph company, guilty of court contempt as a result of his refusal to produce the company's books before a federal grand jury which was investigating the charge that the company used the mails to defraud.

Hold Valid.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The Michigan indictments, charging Milton Dutley, a Chicago machinery sales agent, with the bribery of Allen N. Armstrong, warden of Jackson state prison, and with obtaining $10,000 from the state by false pretenses, was discharged today, by the supreme court, to be valid.

The railroads are under an absolute duty to keep in repair all automatic couplers and other appliances prescribed by the law, not merely a duty to exercise reasonable diligence in repairing such, was the decision today.

MINOR MATTERS OF BUSINESS TONIGHT

Only Routine Work To Be Disposed of by Common Council At Meeting Tonight.

Minor matters of business are apparently all that is slated for the meeting of the common council at the city hall this evening, although some unexpected action may be taken by the city fathers. The ordinance introduced by Alderman J. J. Duffin at the last session, regarding leading horses to brawlers or their agents and pertaining to license fees for charlatans, mediums, fortune tellers and others, were given the first and second reading two weeks ago, and may be called up for the third reading and passed.

Mayor Nichols will tonight announce his appointment to the vacancy in the fire and police commission caused by the resignation of Dr. J. W. St. John and this will be of interest.

Arthur G. Jones, appointed a member of the board at the last gathering of the council, has filled his bond and oath and this will be approved.

Some action will likely be taken on the petition of Mrs. Phillip Oldwell that the solemn license for the saloon conducted by her husband at 219 West Milwaukee street be transferred to Edward M. Dorsey. Dorsey's bonds have been filed with the city clerk.

Mayor Nichols' appointments of William Duffin, Michael Panning and Edward Hallen to act as special policemen on June 8, circums day, and the appointment of Edward Hallen as special police officer to act during the absence of Patrick Panning, will come up for approval. An order will probably be introduced to reimburse the men for their services.

The bond and contract of the Recorder Printing Company to do the city printing and the bond and license fee of G. A. Crossman to run a second hand store at 107 North Main street will be presented for the approval of the council.

Assistant to Pastor: At a recent meeting of the board of trustees of the Baptist church Mrs. Lillian Eddy was elected to the position of pastor's assistant. Her duties will consist in securing pledges from every member of the church and to assist the pastor in calling.

Pranks Made Trouble.

At the recent banquet given by the Juniors and Seniors of the high school at the parlor of the S. D. B. church, the boys of the lower classes were out as usual to make things lively and were strengthened by some of the Milton scholars, as they had been told that they must keep away. A few pranks were played and then they were kicked off the sidewalk and hit with clubs by a lot of them who had been called out for the purpose. The boys retaliated a little by throwing a few eggs and dispersed. In a few days the boys were told that by paying a certain sum one dollar he would not have them arrested and if they didn't he would have to "pinch" them. They did not pay, and five from here were taken without a warrant to Milton, before a justice, and the boys say there was no charge read to them, but they were fined $1.25 apiece. One boy had the money with him and he paid his fine and the rest were let go and told to have their fine by Monday.

Mr. W. H. Peabody of Janesville Sunday with his daughter, Mrs. Ruth Thorpe.

U. M. Baker had the misfortune to lose his driving horse Saturday night.

Little Bed-Time Tales

By EDITH HAVENS

The Laurel Bush

It was a very rainy day and the little laurel bush that grew by the roadside looked so sick and tired. It was the weather that made him look so, for he generally was a most cheerful little bush. He shivered a bit as the rain came drenching down upon him, but he didn't grumble once during the long, dreary day.

As night fell, the rain ceased and the air grew suddenly warm and clear. My, how different he did feel, so strange and funnylike!

It was very dark and he couldn't see anything different, but the bush was happy, but during another it was right here that the little bush knew it and then there was such rain storm one day he realized that made up his mind to win back his beautiful odor all about him. The he had everything he wanted and beautiful coat of pink. He nodded pleasure wind passing by whispered a good-bye to get careless and grumble beauty to all the trees and bushes near night and he felt himself getting drowsy cause it was so wet and cold. A lit-by and at nightfall, when two little by amid the delicate perfume. Press the bird flying by stopped to rest and birds nestled on his branches he just enty of a sudden he began to droop and perched himself upon the bush, where-ever so gently rocked them to sleep. Now God hadn't forgotten little the little stars in the sky above whined shook so that he frightened the little Laurel's efforts, and one warm June morning he awoke and found his lost knowing at one another, as much as creature away.

for little bush in the morning, ashamed the little bush felt. The worst. Oh, how good the world seemed, and there was. What do you think of it was, though, the little blossoms "How grand it is to be good," he had, happened? He was covered suddenly began to drop off, one by one, whispered to the sweetest bush by his with little pink blossoms and such and before the day was through the side, and a little breeze stealing by beautiful little blossoms they were, wind had stripped the little bush whispered in his ear, "It pays to be good, little bush, after all." And little bush answered happily "Yes, yes."

Days and days went by and the lit. For days he was miserable and sick bush answered happily "Yes, yes."

at heart, thinking what a naughty bush he had been, when suddenly he heard a voice from somewhere overhead. Looking up he beheld the great golden sun speaking to him. "Little bush," he said, "you have been a very careless and bad bush. Now let me see if, with very hard trying, you cannot regain those pretty lost blossoms. I will do all I can to help you," he added, and he bade him good-bye because he had work to do behind a big white fluffy cloud that was just passing over the sky.

of the first movement of the Wienawski D minor concerto, which he gave in its entirety, to re-establish him even more firmly than before in the favor of a Buffalo audience. His technical certainty, his essentially manly style and his intellectual grasp of the composition won spontaneous approval and no work recalled again and again. Mr. MacMillen has a wonderful command of double stopping, such as no artist of the violin can exceed. He is infallibly true and sure, and by this surely, as well as by his rhythmic firmness, gives the listener a sense of certainty most satisfying.

Other numbers played by the artist were Schubert's "Ave Maria," in which the theme was read with much tenderness and beauty; "Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso," Saint-Saens, and a group of smaller pieces with the Paganini "Moto Puntado" for the C string alone in a final solo. Two encores granted were a charming "Serenade" by Riegger and the familiar Dvorak "Humoreske."

MacMillen will appear at Myers Theatre Tuesday evening, May 16.

"THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME."

A keen observer of business conditions is authority for the statement that nearly every moderate sized town and village in the central states actually needs houses to quarter its people. The boom in far distant land schemes, now on the wane, has taken money away from home, the westerner investing in the East and the easterner in the West. There is a lure about things distant that the average man finds it hard to resist. "Distance lends enchantment," especially when properly played up by the skillful advertising writer working for an ingenious land promoter.

No one can deny the wisdom of land investments when the investor buys land for a home for cultivation and actual development. But much of the money placed in circulation by land schemes during the last two or three years has gone into property which the buyer know nothing about beyond what he read in a prospectus. This sort of "investment," as a rule, is gone forever and the experience is ominous.

"Now that the land man has harvested his crop it is time for every community to get back to first principles, to develop the home place, to build houses and improve the farms and promote the welfare of the home community.

"To do all this there will be no better time than the present. Money is plentiful. Invested in a home it can not get away, but put into farm improvements it will return dividends. Truly, 'there's no place like home,' when it comes to laying by safely the savings that are to provide for a rainy day. Every move that tends to make the home community better is a move in the right direction."

This advice, coming from a lumber journal, may not seem disinterested, and yet it is true to the letter. In the mad scramble to get something for nothing people in all parts of the country have gone crazy wild with speculation, and when mining schemes exploded, land schemes developed rapidly, and people invested freely to discover that gold bricks were not confined to holes in the ground.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars have gone out of Janesville during the last decade with nothing to show for the investment. This money, put into homes or home industries, would have been secure, and moderate returns would have resulted.

What is true of Janesville is true of many other communities. It is difficult to appreciate the fact that the "field of diamonds" which we all covet is in our own doorway, or so close at home as to be easily overlooked.

THE NEW BRIDGE.

There seems to be a variety of opinion among the aldermen, as well as the tax-payers, as to what kind of bridge should be built at Racine street. Conceding the fact that either steel or concrete make a durable bridge, and that the difference in cost is insignificant, there remains a good reason why cement should be given the preference.

The outlook from Court street down the river is about the only pleasant bit of river scenery which the people of the city enjoy. The cement bridge is an artistic structure which would not detract from this scenery, while a steel structure would so obstruct that the view would practically be destroyed.

This may seem like a trifling argument to people who find pleasure in the panorama presented in looking up the river from Court street bridge, but the number is small compared to those who have an eye for beauty and who believe that natural scenery is worth conserving.

No serious argument is advanced against a cement bridge, and it is to be hoped that the new structure at Racine street will be built of this kind of material.

TODAY'S OPPORTUNITY....
The way to encourage hard times is to talk hard times, and there is a disposition in the air today to indulge in this sort of idle talk.

In spite of the fact that money was never more abundant, or the outlook for a bumper crop never more promising, many people seem possessed of the notion that an era of depression is due, and in no way can be ward off. While the political outlook may not be the most flattering to the party so long in power, it is well to remember that majorities rule and that common interests are mutual. The "American Lumberman" offers the following wholesome suggestions:

BEGIN TODAY TO FORGET

"That the business transacted last month was less than that of the record breaking month of any previous year;

"That pending legislation may possibly have a bearing or influence on your own affairs;

"That the business man you talked with during your ride down town exuded pessimism. Possibly he was unconscious of it; probably he did not know any better; And—

TO REMEMBER

"That national legislation concerns you not one-half as intimately or vitally as does the current demand for your own product;

"That good crops are the foundation of good business, but that good crops alone do not make good business;

"That never was money so cheap nor so much of it available as today;

"That credit is being frittered away through inactivity;

"That little men, mills, factories and foundries constitute an extravagance no nation can afford;

"That the purchasing power of a nation is gauged by the continuous employment of its capital and labor and the continuous exercise of confidence;

"That advancing civilization is manifested by better methods of educating, feeding, clothing, housing and amusing the people;

"That these functions can be performed acceptably only through the continuous employment of all the capital, all the mental resources and all the labor of all the people;

"That he who sets idle machinery in motion and provides for the use of products which are not now in request, contributes to present and future progress, and that such contributions, once made, are cumulative in their effects;

"That a start made today is preferable to one tomorrow; in that it saves one day's interest on capital, turns loose one day sooner the earnings of workmen and helps to inaugurate normal activity, normal happiness and normal progress."

If there are any trifles connected with "representative" government that the present legislature is likely to overlook they have not been listed. The initiative, referendum and recall are in full bloom, the workmen's compensation act provided with a commission, the income tax ready for final approval, and the binding twin plan an assured fact. The state is certainly in the throes of progression.

The conviction of Dlotz, of Cameron fame, was an act of Justice which law-abiding people will endorse. If Dlotz was not responsible, he was not a safe man to be at large, and if he was accountable, he was equally dangerous. He was a terror to the community in which he lived and freedom would have meant continuance of lawlessness.

Mayor Harrison has taken vigorous action against the gamblers in Cleone, and non-union men who desire to work will be given full police protection. The city is fortunate in having a mayor who is not in sympathy with mob rule.

The El Paso Herald published nine editions daily during the three days' siege of Juarez, and the news service, freely illustrated with battle scenes, was a credit to the publishers.

The battle of Juarez was fought with smokeless ammunition and while machine gun and rifles kept up a constant bombardment, not a wisp of smoke was seen.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

SUCCESSFUL SUCCESS.

What is your idea of success? Do you think it consists in achievement, in accomplishing things?

Success is more than achievement. You may accomplish things by accident, because of favorable conditions, by forces outside of yourself. Success is more than that.

Success lies in purpose.

Success is in doing one's best.

For instance, there is a little woman in her tiny kitchen drawing her Saturday's baking from the oven. She looks longingly out of the window at the fine lady in her carriage passing by.

The world thinks—and the little woman feels—that the fine lady has made a success.

But—

The woman in the carriage may be neither successful nor happy, while the little woman may be both.

The woman who does her daily task, who rears her children in habits of honest endeavor and who supplies the world with an example of a pure and patient wife and mother, has made a success.

Her purpose is right, and she has done her best.

There is the young man who stays on the farm and helps father pay off the mortgage while his brother goes to college. His the faithful stay at home made a failure?

No—

However rich or famous the college brother may become, he will never score a greater success in life than he who made the sacrifice.

Success is more than achievement.

The "old maid" who has stayed and taken care of the old folks at home, who has refused her lovers, studied her desire for an education and been faithful to her duty as a daughter, must be numbered not with the failures.

The world really owes more to the quiet, sacrificial workers for publicity.

Like the lone Indian who threw away the pearl worth more than all his tribe, many a self centered, so called successful one has thrown away the real riches of life to hug the hollow delusions which the world mistakes success.

Ignoble success is no more than successful failure.

Ignoble failure is successful failure.

Noble failure may be success.

Only noble success is successful success.

BEET WORKERS START WORK IN THE FIELDS THROUGHOUT COUNTY

In All, Five Hundred Belgians Will Be Employed Here During the Summer.

In the first detachments of the Belgian sugar beet workers arriving, and three fifths of the Nineteen Eleven crop of sugar beets planted already, the year's work of the Rock County Sugar Company may be said to be well under way. The company has under contract ten thousand acres in all, and to work these fields some five hundred Belgian beet workers have been secured by the company from different parts of the country, who will take charge of the fields already planted and cultivated and cultivate them up to and through the harvest.

M. H. Osburn, general manager of the company said this morning, "Fully three fifths of the beets are now planted and we have word that some two hundred Belgian beet workers are on their way to Wisconsin points today. In all we shall have fully five hundred of these workers in the fields by the last of next week at the latest."

These workers are supplied to farmers who desire them and are paid by the acre. They board themselves and live in houses or tents provided for them by the farmers, women and children helping the men in the fields. They are experts in the business and are eagerly sought after by the beet growers.

"We have ten thousand acres under contract now and to meet this increased acreage we are now changing our policy so as to have larger facilities for handling the supply of beets. We will not have our altars finished until late in the summer and will have a large force of men employed here all this time."

The fact that the Janesville Sugar Company had to refuse to take any more contracts has led to a general attention being given the sugar beet industry in Wisconsin, and several newspapers have published exhaustive articles on the growth of this industry throughout the state.

COUPLE INJURED IN RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

Mr. and Mrs. Dierlich Thrown From Wagon When Horses Become Frightened at Auto Saturday Evening.

Their horses becoming frightened at an automobile, the identity of the driver of which cannot be ascertained, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dierlich, who reside on a farm about five miles east of this city, were both seriously injured about seven o'clock Saturday evening, in a runaway accident at the corner of Court and Jefferson streets. Mrs. Dierlich received a fractured collar bone and a dislocation of the knee-cap, besides injuries about the face and head, while her husband was severely cut in the face and arms.

The couple were leaving town for their home, in a milk wagon, drawn by a spirited team of horses. When they arrived at the corner of Jefferson and Court streets, they were met by a machine coming from the opposite direction. After the automobile had passed the team gave a lunge and so doing both of the occupants were thrown into the street. In striking the road, Mr. Dierlich had a very fortunate escape from a more serious injury as he struck in such a way as to bend his head under his body. His face was badly cut and bruised. Mrs. Dierlich was less fortunate and in her fall received several broken bones which may confine her to her bed for some time.

The frightened horses proceeded to run for home, the wagon becoming loosened about two miles out. They were stopped a short distance from there and it was later learned that in passing the rig driven by Mrs. Burleson, the hubs of the two rigs locked, throwing the latter out also.

Mr. Jones of this city was near to the spot where the accident occurred and went to the assistance of the two people. They were taken to their home in the former's buggy and Dr. Golden was called, who dressed the wounds and attended to the setting of the fractured bones. Both Mr. and Mrs. Dierlich are reported as doing nicely today. It is the general opinion that both were extremely fortunate in escaping from the accident without more serious injuries. There were no eye witnesses to the mix-up and as the car did not stop, the identity of the driver or the owner cannot be learned.

MRS. CHAS. PARSONS DIES VERY SUDDENLY

Passed Away At Her Home In Duluth.—Will Be Buried Here On Wednesday.

Word was received last evening by George S. Parker, announcing the sudden death of Mrs. Charles Parsons of Duluth, at her home in that city, at six-thirty Sunday evening. As no word has been received of her illness the news of her death will come as a shock to her many friends in the city. Mrs. Parsons will be remembered here as Mrs. Claude De Long, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. De Long, making their home in Janesville for many years. A brother, John G. De Long, is connected with the Chicago Tribune. It is believed that Mrs. Parsons' death was caused by heart failure, from which usually she had been a sufferer. The remains will be brought to Janesville for interment, reaching here Wednesday morning.

On Saturday, while the fire was in progress at the Cronk Brewery, the possible loss was estimated at four to five thousand dollars. The prompt work of the fire department in handling the blaze and confining it to the burning barn lessened this figure by several thousand dollars. This morning a conservative estimate of the loss places it at five hundred dollars. When the flames broke out it looked as though the whole brewery was doomed, but careful judgment in handling the fire and turning the water on the proper places by Ober Klein and his men, reduced the possible loss to a minimum. The theory that the fire started from sparks from an engine is still believed.

Conference on City Planning, Philadelphia, May 15.—Mayors, municipal engineers and other representatives of many of the chief cities of America assembled in Philadelphia today for the third national conference on city planning. Park improvements, artificial waterways, the regulation of street widths, the location of public buildings in parks, and a variety of other topics of a kindred nature were selected for discussion by experts during the three days session. At the formal opening of the conference this afternoon Mayor Riehman delivered an address of welcome and Frederick Law
Olmsted responded for the visitors.
One of the interesting features of the conference is a large exhibition of photographs illustrating notable examples of civic beauty in American and European cities.

Smithmen's Union Flourishes.
St. Paul, May 15.—With an attendance of several hundred delegates from many parts of the United States and Canada the biennial convention of the Smithmen's Union of North America met in the old State Capitol building here today, to remain in session about two weeks. President Hawley presided at the opening session, which was devoted entirely to routine business. While there is a great deal of business to come before the delegates, it is said that nothing of a revolutionary nature is anticipated at the convention. The annual report to be presented by Secretary M. B. Welsh shows a steady gain in the membership of the organization and a full recovery from the losses sustained in the recent strike in the Northwest. In connection with the convention the Woman's Auxiliary also began its biennial meeting today.
The president of the auxiliary is Mrs.
Barbara Stang of Duluth, whereupon she took the chair and the further to bring the child into the custody of the court.

Stack Kidnapping Case.
Jefferson, City, Mo., May 15.—The Supreme Court of Missouri today listened to arguments upon a motion to quash the writ of habeas corpus issued by Judge Grimes of St. Louis to compel Richard B. Stack, a wealthy Missouri lumberman, to produce his 7-year-old son in court. In his former wife's application for the writ, Stack is accused of having kidnapped the child. The litigation, which has been dragging its way through the courts for several years, grows out of the divorce of Mrs. Stack, now Mrs. Orton Allen Burbank. She obtained a divorce from Stack at Spokane in 1908.
In January, 1910, she brought a charge against him of kidnapping the boy from the home of Mrs. Cornelia Bailey, her sister, who resides in St. Louis.
Stack was acquitted of the charge whereupon his former wife charged him with kidnapping the child into the custody of the court.

Nothing in it.
"I don't take much stock," said the star borderer, "in the story that a boy has discovered the fourth dimension.
If he had he would have taken out a patent on it."—Chicago Tribune.

Knees Became Stiff

Five Years of Sore Rheumatism
The cure of Henry J. Goldstein, 14
Barton Street, Boston, Mass., is another victory by Hood's Sarsaparilla.
This great medicine has succeeded in many cases where others have utterly failed. Mr. Goldstein says: "I suffered from rheumatism five years.
It kept me from business and caused excruciating pain. My knees would become as stiff as steel. I tried many medicines without relief, then took Hood's Sarsaparilla, soon felt much better, and now consider myself entirely cured. I recommend Hood's."

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

IT WAS unnatural, unphilosophical, unscriptural, impractical and anti-Christian—in short, all the epithets in the dictionary that begin with "un" and "in" and "anti" were hurled at it.

So Mary Lyons, the founder of Mt. Holyoke, one of the first two women's colleges in this country, described the opposition to higher education for women, which she has had to meet.

Her description forcibly reminds me of some of the tirades one hears against woman suffrage.

And today—70 years later—the higher education of women is a common place, accepted and approved by the most conservative.

In 1870 occurred the first strike in economic history. The strikers were bookbinders—they were working fourteen hours a day and struck for thirteen. Their action was stigmatized as ridiculous and unheard of and sure to come to no good.

And today the ten-hour day is a commonplace, and the eight-hour day has even been obtained in some professions.

Fifty years ago in the meetings of the National Educational Association women were graciously allowed to write papers, but a man must read them, as it would not be proper for a woman to appear upon the platform.

Last year a woman—Elia Flagg Young—was elected president of this whole association.

Eighteen or twenty years ago, when electricians were first run through the town in which I then lived, one of the foremost men of the community, a very fine doctor, prophesied in all seriousness that trolley cars would never become common because horses would never be able to get used to them.

Today—well if either is disappearing from the landscape it certainly is not the trolley car. And as for equine ability to get along with electrics, why it is only in the remote country districts that horses have any objection even to the most thunderous of automobiles, to say nothing of comparatively staid trolley cars.

A few days ago I heard an anti-suffragist announce with great glee that equal suffrage would never be established because, forsooth, it never had been.

No, this is not simply an argument for women's suffrage.

It is not meant for an argument at all, merely a suggestion, a thought stimulant, a reminder for that kind of person who is in the habit of thinking that woman suffrage or any other great change or reform will not come to pass because "it never has been."

THE FIRST YEAR THE HARDEST.

Just now a lot of bright-eyed girls and clear-brained young women a little older in years and experience are looking forward to the June day when they will don the bridal veil. All of those young women are looking forward with the greatest anticipation and the fondest hopes. It is the turning point in their lives. Or rather, they will have reached the place where the road of life divides. It depends upon themselves—the kind of road they will travel thereafter.

Said an intelligent young woman: "The first year was my hardest. I had all sorts of difficulties trying to adjust myself to the new conditions, and particularly in trying to fit in with my new relations and the friends of my husband. There were days when it seemed as if I must give up. Then I would stop and consider all that was at stake. If I failed now not only my own life would be spoiled, but that of my husband's also. Somehow, though, he never told me until long afterwards, I understood he was having quite as hard time in trying to adjust himself to the new order as I was. He was patient with me. He was always kind, but he refused to give in to my whims of every occasion. He did it so gently, however, that I did not then realize what he was doing. I often think that he saved the situation quite as much as I did. If he had been disposed to be cross and fault-finding, I believe I could not have kept on. But after awhile we got the matrimonial machinery right and it has now settled down to a pretty steady operation."

This girl had the logic of the situation down to a fine point, though she may not have known it. She was fortunate enough to see into the future. She wanted that future to be all she had dreamed it would be and she determined that the dream should come true.

The expert machinist knows that the new machine never runs as smoothly as it does later when it has worn a little. He expects that it will bump and jar a little and there will be times when it will not "run right." Understanding this he doesn't jerk or pull or hammer it. He coaxes it along. The parts that have not yet become adjusted he tries to bring together in the right way. As the parts wear a little here and a little there, he is able to do this and after awhile everybody forgets about the "contractiveness" of the machine in the contented hum it takes up.

Matrimony is a good deal like a new machine. The two persons who have volunteered to keep it running must be patient. They must do nothing rash and they must use no violent means to keep it going or to make it run smoothly. They will find, if they are patient, that the second year will start off better and that every subsequent year will be an improvement over the previous.

They've got to realize that matrimony is a give and take bargain and that it must be elastic enough so that there will be no unnecessary friction. That comprehend, most of the difficulties vanish.

MENU SUGGESTIONS FOR PRESENT WEEK

WHAT TO HAVE ON THE TABLE FOR THE NEXT FIVE DAYS AT MEAL TIME.

PRACTICAL RECIPES

Other Menu Lists Will be Published Later in the Week Until Those of the Seven Winning Prizes Are Printed.

With today's publication of menus for the next five days as designed by Mrs. E. W. Fisher, winner of the first prize in The Gazette menu contest, the readers of the Woman's Page will have good suggestions for substantial and still economical meals for the present week. The menus for Sunday and Monday were published on Saturday last and with the other five days provided for, the entire week is filled.

The week's menus of the other contestants will be published in these columns later and meanwhile the "Kitchen Cabinet" suggestions will be continued. It is suggested that the persons who have kept up The Gazette Scrap Books, cut out these menus as printed and paste them in their books for future reference.

The main object of the contest was to bring out a set of recipes that would be practical for the average family. Recipes that could be used in combinations for meals that would be substantial and not too elaborate. Meals that would yield the pleasure of the average household. In judging the different lists presented for consideration this has been kept in mind.

OUR INDEBTEDNESS FOR MANY BOUNTIES

WAS THEME CONSIDERED IN SERMON BY REV. J. C. HAZEN LAST EVENING.

DEBT OF GRATITUDE

In One of Most Important Obligations Which is Often Overlooked—How To Appreciate Our Blessings.

Speaking on the subject of "Debt," Rev. J. C. Hazen delivered an excellent sermon at the Baptist church last evening. His general thought was to the effect that we are indebted to everything and everybody and that we too often lack the spirit of appreciation for the blessings which we receive on every hand. The thought is brought out in the saying of Paul, "I am indebted to Jew and Greek, Barbarian and Sythian, the bondaged and the free." The speaker said in part:

"How truly Paul has spoken in the saying, 'I Am Debt.' There are so many ways and means of being indebted that it is very often hard for us to definitely state to whom and just how much we are indebted. There are a variety of ways of entering into debt. We can owe for the food we eat and for the clothes on our back. We can be indebted to our neighbors, to the church and the community.

"We speak today of the many ways in which we are indebted to our mothers and give honor to them for the many deeds they have done for us that only mothers can do.

"And there are some people who fall in debt and seem never able to get out. They are always in debt; it seems that circumstance is always against them; they can't avoid it. Debt has a hold and a claim on them and their whole struggle in life is to free themselves from debt.

"There are others who don't care. They make no strangle or thought regarding their indebtedness. Then there are those who are honest and who would give their very life blood to get out of debt.

"There are several kinds of debt. We have what we may call the debt of contract—the legal or financial debt.

We can think quickly to whom and for what we owe. We may have given our note, or we may have a bill which is coming due and we have obligations to meet with dollars and cents. We work early and late to meet these debts, which must be paid and we are ever anxious to be free from this sort of obligation.

"But there is another kind of debt. Paul wasn't speaking of the debt of money. It was another thing. He felt grateful to God and the people about him for all that they had done. This is the debt of gratitude which is one of the most important of obligations and one which every man owes almost in equal degree.

"How much we have to be grateful for and how many blessings and bounties we receive which we straightway forget after we have enjoyed them. The son who came to his father asking for his share of the property when he had attained his majority, didn't stop to think how much he was indebted to his father for his life and living. He wanted the property and would not wait until his father had passed away. He forgot his obligations in this respect and took his share and went out and spent it.

"There are many children who fail to think of what their fathers and their mothers have done for them. Are you really grateful for what your mother has done for you? She has helped you when life was heavy and the struggle seemed hard. She has stood by you when she knew you were in the wrong, and she started you on your feet again. She has watched by your bedside; what has she not given up of time and labor to make for your comfort and happiness? Do you remember the life of sacrifice which she has lived for you and do you appreciate it at all, and have you made fitting expression of your gratitude?

"Now what we owe to the church and what it has accomplished for you. And are you truly grateful to God and do you express your thanks for what God has given you. There are bounties and blessings all around us for which we are indebted to the God of creation.

"To father and mother, the church, God, and our country we are indebted. And do you recall the Man Without a Country? Sometimes it would be the best thing for the boy and the girl who threatens to leave home when they are crossed, or when they become parted at some act of their parents, it would be the best thing if they could be deprived of the father's and mother's care, as the Man Without a Country was. It would be the best thing for the boy and the girl who threatens to leave home when they are crossed, or when they become parted at some act of their parents, it would be the best thing if they could be deprived of the father's and mother's care, as the Man Without a Country was.

EVANSVILLE SENIORS GUESTS OF JUNIORS

High School Students Made Merry at Banquet and Dancing Party Last Friday Evening.

EXCERPT TO THE GAZETTE.

Evansville, May 15.—The junior class of the high school entertained the seniors Friday evening with the annual banquet. This event was held in the Congregational church and there were about a half a hundred in attendance. The dining room was attractively decorated in the senior colors, cardinal and white, and American beauty roses were used as centerpieces for the table and as favors. The menu and place cards were in gold and white. The banquet was served at seven o'clock under the direction of the ladies of the Congregational society.

Miss Nellie Devine, of the junior class, acted as toast mistress and toast were responded to as follows:

"The Junior's Elevation of Class '11".....Daryl Patterson
"The Juniors as Regarded by the Seniors".....Clara Oberg
"Class of '11 from a Funny Stand-point".....Miss Cady

"Characteristics of Class '12".....Robert Hull
"The Faculty".....Oliver Luddington
"Response".....Prof. J. F. Waddell
"Seniors and Juniors from Serious Standpoint".....Prof. F. J. Lowth

At the close of the program, the guests adjourned to the opera house which had been elaborately decorated in the senior colors, and the remainder of the evening was passed with dancing and various other amusements. The Juniors spared nothing to make the entertainment a success and the outgoing seniors will always remember the occasion as one of the bright spots in their high school life.

WANTS INFORMATION AS TO SHAM BATTLE

Prominent Moving Picture Concern Writes to Obtain Particulars of Coming Celebration.

There is a possibility that the coming Fourth of July celebration in Janesville may be thrown on the screens of thousands of moving picture theatres within the next six months. A leading firm that manufactures the film used has written to the executive committee of the coming celebration asking for definite information as to the plans of the proposed battle at the Fair Grounds on July 4.

While nothing definite can be reported as yet relative to the coming celebration, all plans being held in abeyance until the needed funds for carrying on the project have been raised, still tentative plans have been sent the film concern and perhaps they will have a picture machine here on the three days of the gathering, July 3rd, 4th and 5th, to gather interesting pictures.

Interest in the military demonstration is due largely to the fact that this is the fiftieth anniversary of the celebration of the great war of the Revolution. It is fifty years ago since the armies of the North and South clashed for supremacy in their long, bitter struggle.

At present down on the Mexican frontier, the largest army of the United States ever mobilized. In peace times, is encamped, waiting for events that may occur in Mexico across the border. Taking it all in all, this year appeals to the average person as one for a big military demonstration on the nation's birthday.
